

Faculty Notes

The following summarizes the scholarly productivity of Georgia Law's distinguished faculty during the calendar year 2014 and year-to-date 2015.

Diane Marie Amann

"The Child Rights Convention and International Criminal Justice" in the Nordic Journal of International Law (forthcoming 2015); "Children" in The Cambridge Companion to International Criminal Law (W. Schabas ed.) (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming 2015); "The Post-Postcolonial Woman or Child" in 30 American University International Law Review 41 (2015) (to be reprinted in American Society of International Law Proceedings (2014)); editor-in-chief of Benchbook on International Law (American Society of International Law, 2014), available at www.asil.org/benchbook; and book review of Terror Courts by J. Bravin in 95 International Review of the Red Cross 467 (2014).

Peter A. Appel

Wilderness Law and Policy: Cases and Materials (Carolina Academic Press, forthcoming).

Mehrsa Baradaran

How the Other Half Banks (Harvard University Press, forthcoming 2015); "Regulation by Hypothetical" in 67 Vanderbilt Law Review 1247 (2014); "Banking and the Social Contract" in 89 Notre Dame Law Review 1283 (2014); and "It's Time for Postal Banking" in 127 Harvard Law Review Forum 165 (2014).

Kent H. Barnett

"Standing for (and up to) the Separation of Powers" in 91 Indiana Law Journal (forthcoming 2015–16); "Codifying Chevmore" in 90 New York University

Law Review 1 (2015); "Improving Agencies' Preemption Expertise With Chevmore Codification" in 83 Fordham Law Review 587 (2014) (symposium) (invited); "To the Victor Goes the Toil – Remedies for Regulated Parties in Separation-of-Powers Litigation" in 92 North Carolina Law Review 481 (2014); and "International Sale of Goods" in Benchbook on International Law (D.M. Amann ed.) (American Society of International Law, 2014).

Randy Beck

"Overcoming Barriers to the Protection of Viable Fetuses" in 71 Washington & Lee Law Review 1263 (2014) (symposium) (invited); and "Prioritizing Abortion Access over Abortion Safety in Pennsylvania" in 8 University of St. Thomas Journal of Law & Public Policy 33 (2014) (symposium) (invited).

Elizabeth Chamblee Burch

"Constructing Issue Classes" in 101 Virginia Law Review (forthcoming 2015); "Regulatory Discord and Procedure" in the New York University Journal of Law and Business (forthcoming 2015) (symposium); "Judging Multidistrict Litigation" in 90 New York University Law Review 71 (2015); "Remanding Multidistrict Litigation" in 75 Louisiana Law Review 339 (2014) (symposium); and "Revisiting Government as Plaintiff" in 5 Journal of Tort Law 227 (2014) (symposium).

Jason A. Cade

"Enforcing Immigration Equity" in the Fordham Law Review (forthcoming); "The Plea Bargain Crisis for Noncitizens in Misdemeanor Court" in the Immigration and Nationality Review (forthcoming) (reprinted from 34 Cardozo Law Review 1751 (2013)); and "The Challenge of Seeing Justice Done in Removal Proceedings" in the Immigration and Nationality Review (forthcoming) (reprinted from 89 Tulane Law Review 1 (2014)).

Law school hosts high profile conferences

This academic year, Georgia Law played host to three distinguished groups of scholars, each with a different focus.

The Seventh Annual Junior Faculty Federal Courts Workshop, held in the fall, paired senior scholars with junior scholars presenting works-in-progress on topics relating to the federal courts, civil rights litigation, civil procedure and other associated topics. Assistant Professor Kent H. Barnett and Associate Professor Matthew I. Hall were key figures in organizing this gathering.

In March, the law school hosted the Annual Retreat for the Law and Entrepreneurship Association. Since 2008, the retreat has served as a forum for like-minded individuals to gather and discuss research and recent developments in the important areas of entrepreneurship and business law. Associate Dean for Faculty Development Usha Rodrigues, who served as president of the group for the 2014–15 academic year, was instrumental in bringing this group to Athens.

Also in the spring, members of the Association for Law, Property and Society came to the UGA campus for their annual meeting. Martin Chair James C. "Jim" Smith, who serves as president-elect of the association, convened more than 140 scholars from around the world who are conducting interdisciplinary research on all aspects of property law, policy and theory – including real, personal, intellectual, intangible, cultural and other forms of property.

Ronald L. Carlson

Carlson on Evidence: Comparing Georgia and Federal Rules, 3d ed. (Institute of Continuing Legal Education of Georgia, 2015) (with M. Carlson); Trial Handbook for Georgia Lawyers, 2014–15 ed. (Thomson Reuters, 2014) (with M. Carlson and J. Cook); and “Unconstitutionality and the Role of Wide-Open Cross-Examination: Encroaching on the Fifth Amendment When Examining the Accused” in 7 John Marshall Law Journal 269 (2014) (with M. Carlson).

Nathan S. Chapman

“The Jury’s Constitutional Judgment” in 67 Alabama Law Review (forthcoming 2015).

Dan T. Coenen

“Why Wynne Should Win” in 67 Vanderbilt Law Review En Banc 217 (2014); “The Commerce Power and Congressional Mandates” in 82 George Washington Law Review 1052 (2014); and “The Filibuster and the Framing: Why the Cloture Rule Is Unconstitutional and What To Do About It” in 55 Boston College Law Review 39 (2014).

Harlan G. Cohen

“International Precedent and the Practice of International Law” in The Challenges of Global and Local Legal Pluralism: Mediating State and Non-State Law (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming); “Formalism and Distrust: Foreign Affairs Law in the Roberts Court” in 83 George Washington Law Review 380 (2015); and “Theorizing Precedent in International Law” in Interpretation in International Law (A. Bianchi, D. Peat and M. Windsor eds.) (Oxford University Press, 2015).

Julian A. Cook III

Trial Handbook for Georgia Lawyers, 2014–15 ed. (Thomson Reuters, 2014) (with R. Carlson and M. Carlson).

Andrea L. Dennis

“Encouraging Victims: Responding to a Recent Study of Battered Women Who Commit Crimes” in 15 Nevada Law Journal (forthcoming 2015) (with C. Jordan); “Good Cop-Bad Cop: Police Violence and the Child’s Mind” in 58 Howard Law Journal (forthcoming 2015); “Talk Don’t Touch: Should Children’s Attorneys Adopt No-Touch Policies for Clients?” in 65 Catholic University Law Review (forthcoming 2015); “Poetic (In)Justice? Rap Music Lyrics as Art, Life, and Criminal Evidence” in Hip Hop and the Law: The Key Writings that Formed the Movement (P. Bridgewater et al. eds.) (Carolina Academic Press, forthcoming) (reprinted from 31 Columbia Journal of Law and the Arts 1 (2007)); and “Teaching ‘The Wire’: Crime, Evidence, and Kids” in 64 Journal of Legal Education 111 (2014).

Jaime L. Dodge

“Behind the Curtain: MDL Plaintiffs Steering Committees” in 64 Emory Law Journal (forthcoming); “Reconceptualizing Non-Article III Tribunals” in 99 Minnesota Law Review 905 (2015); “Facilitative Judging: Organizational Design in Mass-Multidistrict Litigation” in 64 Emory Law Journal 329 (2014) (symposium); “Privatizing Mass Settlement” in 90 Notre Dame Law Review 335 (2014) (invited); and “Disaggregative Mechanisms: Mass Claims Resolution Without Class Actions” in 63 Emory Law Journal 1253 (2014) (keynote article).

Thomas A. Eaton

Constitutional Torts, 4th ed. (LexisNexis, forthcoming 2015) (with M. Wells, S. Nahmod and F. Smith); and Workers’ Compensation Cases and Materials, 7th ed. (West, 2014) (with J. Little and G. Smith).

Faculty COLLOQUIUM Series

Colloquium brings scholars to campus

Georgia Law hosts the Faculty Colloquium Series each year, where legal academics from around the world come to the law school and present their current research to faculty. This forum greatly enhances the scholarly atmosphere at the school and fosters relationships with other institutions. With funding from the school’s Kirbo Trust Endowed Faculty Fund and the Talmadge Law Faculty Fund, the following presenters came to Athens during the 2014–15 academic year.

David A. Skeel, University of Pennsylvania
Ralph Brubaker, University of Illinois
Oren Perez, Bar-Ilan University
Paul B. Stephan, University of Virginia
H. Timothy Lovelace, Indiana University
Jason P. Nance, University of Florida
Jeanne Fromer, New York University
Isaac D. “Zack” Buck, Mercer University
Laura Pineschi, Università degli Studi di Parma
Jane H. Aiken, Georgetown University

Thompson rejoins faculty

Earlier this spring, Larry D. Thompson returned to the Georgia Law faculty as the Sibley Professor in Corporate and Business Law. He was on temporary leave from the law school for the past two years as he rejoined PepsiCo as its executive vice president of government affairs, general counsel and corporate secretary. Thompson is the former deputy attorney general for the United States. He will teach in the areas of business crimes and corporate responsibility.

Amann and Rodrigues named associate deans

Earlier this year, Diane Marie Amann was named the law school's associate dean for international programs and strategic initiatives, while Usha Rodrigues was appointed associate dean for faculty development.

As associate dean for international programs and strategic initiatives, Amann will oversee collaborations between the Dean Rusk Center for International Law and Policy and the law school's faculty and students. Amann will also assist the law school with strategic initiatives such as growing its LL.M. program, strengthening partnerships with foreign universities and beginning work on the school's next strategic plan.

Amann joined the Georgia Law faculty in the fall of 2011 as the holder of the Emily and Ernest Woodruff Chair in International Law, which she still occupies. She is an affiliated faculty member of UGA's African Studies Institute and serves as the International Criminal Court prosecutor's special adviser on children in and affected by armed conflict.

The author of approximately 50 publications in English, French and Italian, Amann's scholarship focuses on the ways that national, regional and international legal regimes interact as they endeavor to combat atrocity and cross-border crime. She is editor-in-chief of the American Society of International Law Benchbook on International Law.

Prior to coming to Georgia Law, Amann was a professor of law, the founding director of the California International Law Center and a Martin Luther King Jr. Hall Research Scholar at the University of California, Davis. She was an assistant federal public defender, a solo federal criminal defense practitioner and a litigation associate at Morrison & Foerster. She also served as a judicial clerk for U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens and Judge Prentice H. Marshall

Associate Dean for International Programs and Strategic Initiatives Diane Marie Amann

Associate Dean for Faculty Development Usha Rodrigues

of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Amann holds a Dr.h.c. degree in law from Universiteit Utrecht in the Netherlands. She earned her J.D. cum laude from Northwestern University, where she served as a note and comment editor of the Northwestern University Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif, her M.A. in political science from the University of California, Los Angeles, and her B.S. in journalism, with highest honors, from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

As associate dean for faculty development, Rodrigues will work closely with the law school's faculty, especially its untenured professors, to expand and promote scholarly activities.

Rodrigues joined Georgia Law in the fall of 2005 and was named the holder of the M.E. Kilpatrick Chair of Corporate Finance and Securities Law in 2014. Her work has appeared in the Virginia, Illinois, Minnesota, Fordham, Emory, Florida, Kentucky and Washington and Lee law reviews. She has also published in online fora of the Vanderbilt, UCLA, Texas and Harvard Business law reviews and in the peer-reviewed Journal of Corporate Finance.

Prior to coming to Athens, she was a corporate associate with Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati in Reston, Virginia, where she specialized in corporate law and technology transactions. She also served as a judicial law clerk to Judge Thomas L. Ambro of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit.

Rodrigues earned her bachelor's degree summa cum laude from Georgetown University, her master's degree in comparative literature summa cum laude from the University of Wisconsin and her Juris Doctor from the University of Virginia, where she served as editor-in-chief of the Virginia Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif.

Matthew I. Hall

"The Prudential Third-Party Standing of Family-Owned Corporations" in 162 University of Pennsylvania Law Review Online 151 (2014).

Erica J. Hashimoto

"Motivating Constitutional Compliance" in the Florida Law Review (forthcoming); and "An Originalist Argument for a Sixth Amendment Right to Competent Counsel" in 99 Iowa Law Review 1999 (2014) (symposium).

Walter Hellerstein

"Facial State Tax Discrimination Allegedly Causing No Harm" in 75 State Tax Notes 749 (2015) (with J. Swain); "Connecting Corporate and Individual Income Taxes and VAT in a Digital Global Economy: The Unexplored Linkages or The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly?" in The Future of VAT in a Digital Global Economy (M. Lang et al. eds.) (International Bureau of Fiscal Documentation, 2015); State and Local Taxation: Cases and Materials, 10th ed. (West, 2014) (with K. Stark, J. Swain and J. Youngman); "State Conformity to Federal Corporate Income Taxation of Foreign Corporations: Reflections on Schlumberger" in 76 Tax Notes International 435 (2014) (with J. Friedman and J. Libin) (also published in 74 State Tax Notes 261 (2014)); "Designing the Limits of Formulary Income Attribution Regimes" in 72 State Tax Notes 45 (2014); and "Jurisdiction to Tax in the Digital Economy: Permanent and Other Establishments" in 68 Bulletin for International Taxation 346 (2014).

Fazal Khan

Bioethics and the Law (Carolina Academic Press, forthcoming 2016); "The Uber Effect: The Coming Legal Storm over Mobile Health Technology" in the Health Matrix Journal of Law-Medicine (forthcoming 2015); and "Mobile Health Technology: Legal Barriers to Disruptive Innovation" in The Handbook of Research on Digital Transformations (F. Olleros and M. Zhegu eds.) (Elgar Publishing, 2015).

Eleanor Crosby Lanier

"First Do No Harm" in 3 Experience 23 (2015).

Recent faculty appointments and honors

Assistant Professor Kent H. Barnett's article "The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's Appointment with Trouble" (60 American University Law Review 1459 (2011)) was cited by the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Indiana. The court referred to the article as "offering legitimate and serious analysis" on separation of powers questions surrounding the Federal Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's structure.

Callaway Chair Emeritus Ronald L. Carlson was awarded a faculty medallion from the Institute of Continuing Judicial Education in Georgia. The medallion is given to conference speakers who have obtained an evaluation rating of 4.5 or more on a 5-point scale at least three or more times from conference attendees.

Assistant Professor Nathan S. Chapman's article "Due Process as Separation of Powers" (121 Yale Law Review 1672 (2012) (with M. McConnell)) was cited by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas in his concurring opinion in Department of Transportation et al. v. Association of American Railroads.

Assistant Professor Jaime L. Dodge served as the reporter for Duke University School of Law's Multi-District Litigation Best Practices Conference in Washington, D.C., in the fall. This invitation-only conference brought together dozens of current District Court and Court of Appeals judges as well as the most prominent multi-district litigation attorneys from both the plaintiffs' and defense bars.

Associate Professor Matthew I. Hall's article "Standing of Intervenor-Defendants in Public Law Litigation" (80 Fordham Law Review 1539, 1542 (2012)) was cited by the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York in Floyd and Ligon v. the City of New York, which concerns the New York Police Department's "stop and frisk" policy.

Distinguished Research Professor & Shackelford Distinguished Professor in Taxation Law Walter Hellerstein's treatise on state taxation was cited by the U.S. Supreme Court in Alabama Department of Revenue v. CSX Transportation, Inc. The Supreme Court referenced his work as follows: "As one treatise has observed, we recognize a 'wide latitude state legislatures enjoy in drawing tax classifications under the Equal Protection Clause.' 1 J. Hellerstein & W. Hellerstein, State Taxation ¶ 3.03[1], p. 3-5 (3d ed. 2001-2005). This includes the power to impose 'widely different taxes on various trades or professions.'" Id., at 3-5 to 3-6. This same treatise was also cited four times by the Supreme Court of Oregon in the course of its opinion in Powerex Corp. v. Department of Revenue, 357 Or. 40 (2015), which addressed the attribution of sales of natural gas and electricity for state corporate income tax purposes.

Three faculty members were recognized this year by Georgia Law students. They include Associate Professor Christian Turner (left) with the O'Byrne Memorial Award for Significant Contributions Furthering Student-Faculty Relations, Hosch Professor Lori Ringhand with the Ellington Award for Excellence in Teaching and Associate Dean Lonnie Brown with the Student Bar Association Professionalism Award.

Associate Professor Hillel Y. Levin has been selected to serve on the American Civil Liberties Union of Georgia Legal Committee for the 2015-16 term.

Associate Professor Timothy Meyer's book Goldilocks Globalism: The Rise of Soft Law in International Governance was the focus of a Temple University Beasley School of Law roundtable conference in the fall.

Associate Professor Lisa Milot's article "What Are We – Laborers, Factories or Spare Parts? The Tax Treatment of Transfers of Human Body Materials" (67 Washington and Lee Law Review 1053 (2010)) was cited by the U.S. Tax Court in Perez v. Commissioner, a case concerning the proper taxation of proceeds from egg donation.

Hosch Professor Lori A. Ringhand participated in an "Author Meets Critics" panel at the American Political Science Association's annual conference in Washington, D.C. The panel was convened to discuss her book Supreme Court Confirmation Hearings and Constitutional Change. This coauthored title was named a 2014 Outstanding Academic Title by Choice, a publication of the Association of College and Research Libraries.

Dean Peter B. "Bo" Rutledge has been named to the Social Science Research Network advisory board. The SSRN is devoted to the rapid worldwide dissemination of social science research and is composed of a number of specialized research networks in each of the social sciences.

Georgia Athletic Association Professor David E. Shipley was named an ex-officio voting trustee of the UGA Foundation.

Martin Chair James C. "Jim" Smith was named president-elect of the Association for Law, Property and Society. ALPS is an organization for scholars conducting interdisciplinary legal scholarship on all aspects of property law, policy and theory. He will serve as the organization's president during 2015-16.

Alan Watson, retired Distinguished Research Professor, received an honorary professorship from the University of Edinburgh. A title conferred only on individuals of high academic distinction, the professorship will run for 10 years and will require Watson to give lectures and seminars at the university.

Law Library Director Carol A. Watson (J.D.'87) was recognized by the American Association of Law Libraries' Academic Law Libraries Special Interest Section with the Outstanding Article Award for her work "The Open Access Advantage for American Law Reviews" in 3A Edison: Law and Technology 1 (2015) (with J. Donovan and C. Osborne).

Additionally, two Georgia Law librarians' scholarship has been selected for an award. Law Library Director Carol A. Watson (J.D.'87) and Faculty Services Librarian Thomas "T.J." Striepe published chapters in Law Librarianship in the Digital Age, which was presented the American Association of Law Libraries Joseph L. Andrews Legal Literature Award.

Georgia Law bids farewell to longtime colleagues

Hosch Professor Thomas A. Eaton retired on May 31 after serving on the law school's faculty for more than 35 years.

Eaton taught courses in torts, constitutional litigation, health care regulation and workers' compensation. He said that teaching first-year students has been a great joy. "I love their enthusiasm. I love observing them grow during the first year, and I love the lasting relationships we form."

Eaton added that he is proud of the role he played in getting the mock trial program, the Equal Justice Foundation and the Joseph Henry Lumpkin American Inn of Court "up and running" at the law school.

On the scholarship front, he hopes the empirical studies he worked on with UGA's Saye Professor of American Government and Constitutional Law and Meigs Distinguished Teaching Professor Susette M. Talarico and Meigs Distinguished Teaching Professor David B. Mustard "added something new" and "important to our understanding of how the tort and workers' compensation systems actually operate." In 2003, Eaton became the only law professor to be presented with a UGA Creative Research Medal, which was awarded for his systematic and in-depth study of tort litigation with Talarico (who has since passed away).

Eaton's law school service will continue as he will become a member of the Board of Visitors in the fall.

He added that he and his wife, Joanna, plan to continue living in Athens and anticipate spending more time visiting their grandchildren in Florida. He also plans to spend some time on the golf course feeding his newfound "addiction."

María Eugenia Giménez (LL.M.'89), associate director of the Dean Rusk Center for International Law and Policy, retired after 16 years of service on March 31.

Giménez developed and directed three major programs at Georgia Law: the International Judicial Training Program, which had more than 1,000 participants from the judiciaries of Argentina, Armenia, Brazil, Egypt, Ghana, Liberia and the United Arab Emirates since its inception; the Global Internship Program, which places Georgia Law students in legal summer internships with more than 80 organizations in 35 countries throughout the world (geographically, this is the largest program of its kind at UGA); and the Transnational Law Program, which was created in 2013 and brings foreign law students to Athens for one to two weeks to study different areas of international and American law.

Giménez said establishing a Georgia Law presence in more than 100 organizations in 40 countries on five continents was among her biggest accomplishments during her tenure. "It makes me very happy to leave this legacy to future generations of lawyers."

At present she intends to continue residing in Athens, but will embark on "a long list of international trips" as she begins her retirement.

Walter Hellerstein, the Shackelford Distinguished Professor in Taxation Law and Distinguished Research Professor, retired May 31 after 37 years at the law school.

Although he will no longer be teaching, Hellerstein said he will "remain active in the research, writing and related activities" that occupied most of his academic career. "These include, most importantly, the 'care and feeding' of my two-volume treatise, State Taxation, and my work as an academic adviser to the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in Paris in connection with the development of the International VAT/GST Guidelines."

Hellerstein indicated his immediate post-retirement agenda is full of commitments that include, in addition to work at the OECD in Paris, speaking at the first General Session of the Southeastern Association of Tax Administrators (to be opened by Georgia Gov. Nathan Deal) in Atlanta during July, presenting a paper on the International VAT/GST Guidelines at the University of Florida College of Law's International Tax Symposium in Gainesville during October and presenting a paper on specialized tax courts in multijurisdictional systems at a conference at the Vienna University of Economics and Business (where he will also teach a course on comparative cross-border direct and indirect taxation in the digital age) in Austria during December.

C. Donald Johnson (J.D.'73) will retire on July 31 after directing the efforts of the Dean Rusk Center for International Law and Policy for more than one decade.

The center made significant strides in fulfilling its mission of increasing the understanding of global legal and policy issues during Johnson's tenure. Key highlights include the expansion of summer legal study and work abroad opportunities for Georgia Law students and the 2008 roundtable "The Report of the Secretaries of State: Bipartisan Advice to the Next Administration" featuring former U.S. Secretaries of State Henry Kissinger, James Baker, Warren Christopher, Madeleine Albright and Colin Powell (which Johnson said was one of his greatest memories during his directorship).

Johnson added that he will miss his interactions with students on international trade policy issues and on related career opportunities. "I learned the importance of mentoring from Dean Rusk when I was his student here in the 1970s. His advice has been invaluable to me throughout my career, and I hope some of my counsel to students has been of value."

Johnson plans to continue living in Hart County, where his family has resided since before the American Revolution. He also plans to spend time on professional matters in Washington, D.C., and to publish his almost completed book that is a comprehensive narrative of U.S. trade policy from the Revolutionary Era to the creation of the modern multilateral trade regime under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the World Trade Organization. He currently has two other books on public policy issues in the works.

Susan G. Schaffer, who served as the managing attorney of the law school's Family Violence Clinic for 14 years, left the law school on January 9.

Under her supervision, law students helped victims of abuse gain access to the legal system in Athens-Clarke and Oconee counties while developing their interviewing, case preparation, counseling and advocacy skills. Schaffer estimates that she mentored around 200 students during her time at Georgia Law.

She said many of her students "have continued to use the knowledge and skills that they learned at the clinic and have gone on to work with victims of domestic violence in various capacities. I know that they are making a tremendous impact in their communities."

She added that she also tried to get her students to think about their health and to try to balance their lives and their careers. "As a professional and a mother, I tried to model what it was like to juggle a job and the daily demands of my other full-time job."

Presently, Schaffer is the staff attorney at the Athens-Clarke County Probate Court working with Judge Susan P. Tate (J.D.'75).

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SERVICE.

Georgia
Law

Elizabeth Weeks Leonard (J.D.'99)

The Law of American Health Care (Aspen/Wolters Kluwer Law & Business, forthcoming 2016) (with N. Huberfeld and K. Outterson); "The Fragility of the Affordable Care Act's Universal Coverage Strategy" in 46 University of Toledo Law Review (forthcoming 2015); and "Crafting a Narrative for the Red State Option" in 102 Kentucky Law Journal 381 (2013–14).

Hillel Y. Levin

"Rethinking Religious Minorities' Political Power" in 48 U.C. Davis Law Review (forthcoming 2015); Statutory Interpretation: A Practical Lawyering Course (West, 2014); "Tax Credit Scholarship Programs: A Model Statute for a Better Program" in 1 Education Law and Policy Review 59 (2014) (peer reviewed); and "Intentionalism Justice Scalia Could Love" (book review of The Nature of Legislative Intent by R. Ekins) in 30 Constitutional Commentary 89 (2014) (peer reviewed).

Timothy Meyer

Goldilocks Globalism (Oxford University Press, forthcoming) (with A. Guzman); book review of Economic Foundations of International Law by E. Posner and A. Sykes in 108 American Journal of International Law (forthcoming); "From Contract to Legislation: The Logic of Modern International Lawmaking" in 14 Chicago Journal of International Law 559 (2014); "Explaining the Energy Regime Complex" (book review of The Politics and Institutions of Global Energy Governance by T. Van de Graaf) in 8 Carbon & Climate Law Review 146 (2014); and "The Role of Science in Adducing Evidence of Climate Change" in The Oxford Handbook of International Climate Change Law (C. Carlarne et al. eds.) (Oxford University Press, 2014).

Joseph S. Miller

"The Idea of the Casebook: Pedagogy, Prestige, and Trusty Platforms" in 11 Washington Journal of Law, Technology & Arts (forthcoming 2015) (with L. Loren); and "Error Costs & IP Law" in 2014 University of Illinois Law Review 175.

Lisa Milot

"Ignorance, Harm, and the Regulation of Performance-Enhancing Substances" in 5 Harvard Journal of Sports & Entertainment Law 91 (2014).

Carol Morgan (J.D.'79)

"Ethical Issues for Transactional Attorneys Here and Abroad" in 15 Transactions: The Tennessee Journal of Business Law 593 (2014) (with C. Goforth, C. Plump and U. Rodrigues).

Lori A. Ringhand

"The Institutionalization of Supreme Court Confirmation Hearings" in the Law and Social Inquiry (forthcoming) (with P. Collins); and "Voter Discrimination: A First Amendment Challenge to Voter Participation Restrictions" in 13 Election Law Journal 288 (2014).

Usha Rodrigues

"Mispricing Corruption" in the Journal of Law and Politics (forthcoming 2015); "The Once and Future Irrelevance of Section 12(g)" in 2015 Illinois Law Review (forthcoming); "David and Director Primacy" in 62 UCLA Law Review Discourse 82 (2014); "The Effect of the JOBS Act on Underwriting Spreads" in 102 Kentucky Law Journal 925 (2014) (symposium); "Ethical Issues for Transactional Attorneys Here and Abroad" in 15 Transactions: The Tennessee Journal of Business Law 593 (2014) (with C. Goforth, C. Plump and C. Morgan); and "What All-Cash Companies Tell Us About IPOs and Acquisitions" in 29 Journal of Corporate Finance 111 (2014) (with M. Stegemoller).

Peter B. "Bo" Rutledge

"The Testamentary Foundation of Commercial Arbitration" in the Ohio State Journal on Dispute Resolution (forthcoming 2015); "An Empirical Assessment of Arbitration Clauses in Credit Card Agreements" in Access to Civil Justice (S. Estreicher ed.) (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming); "From Custom to Cooperative Federalism: The Case of Judicial Assistance Treaties in the United States" in Treaties in American Law (G. Fox and P. Dubinsky eds.) (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming); and "'Sticky' Arbitration Clauses? The Use of Arbitration Clauses after Conception and Amex" in 67 Vanderbilt Law Review 955 (2014) (with C. Drahozal).

Introducing two new legal research and writing instructors

Georgia Law welcomed two legal research and writing instructors in the fall: Georgia Law 1998 alumnus Patrick D. Conner and Susannah P. Mroz. Both also lead courses in document drafting, concentrating in contracts and litigation, in addition to teaching legal research and writing.

Conner previously worked for 14 years as an attorney with Morgan, Lewis and Bockius in Washington, D.C., where he was promoted to partner in 2007. At the firm, he specialized in high-stakes litigation and regulatory investigations. He also worked with Fellow, Johnson & La Briola in Atlanta from 1998 to 2000, where he primarily focused on commercial cases in federal and state courts.

Conner's work has been published in Investment Lawyer, and he has been quoted in Investment Adviser Week as well as the Washington Post.

He earned his bachelor's degree cum laude and with honors in 1995 and his Juris Doctor cum laude in 1998, both from UGA.

Mroz came to UGA with six years of experience as a lawyer specializing in labor and employment law. Most recently a law clerk for U.S. Magistrate Judge Karla R. Spaulding of the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida, Mroz has also practiced with Ogletree, Deakins, Nash, Smoak & Stewart and Ice Miller, both located in Indianapolis.

She is the author of several articles that have appeared in publications such as The Federal Lawyer, the Inside Edge E-Newsletter, QuickCounsel and BizVoice.

Mroz earned her J.D. summa cum laude from the Indiana University School of Law-Indianapolis, where she served as executive articles editor for the Indiana Law Review. Prior to law school, she pursued graduate work at Duke University and was a graduate teaching assistant at the Duke University Divinity School. Her B.A. is from Calvin College.

Margaret V. Sachs

"Superstar Judges as Entrepreneurs: The Untold Story of Fraud-on-the-Market" in 48 U.C. Davis Law Review (forthcoming 2015).

Logan E. Sawyer III

"National League of Cities v. Usery and the Return of Constitutional Federalism" in 91 University of Denver Law Review 221 (2014); book review of Against the Profit Motive: The Salary Revolution in American Government, 1780-1940 by N. Parrillo in 74 Journal of Economic History 630 (2014); and "Legal History in Context" in Teaching Legal History: Comparative Perspectives (Widley & Sons, 2014).

Alexander W. Scherr

Editor of and contributing author to Learning from Practice, 3d ed. (Thomson West, forthcoming 2015).

David E. Shipley

"The Preliminary Injunction Standard in Diversity: A Typical Unguided Erie Choice" in 50 Georgia Law Review (forthcoming); and "The Empty Promise of VARA: The Restrictive Application of a Narrow Statute" in 83 Mississippi Law Journal 985 (2014).

James C. Smith

Glannon Guide to Property, 3d ed. (Wolters Kluwer, 2015); and Real Estate - Emanuel Law Outline, 3d ed. (Wolters Kluwer, 2015) (with R. Malloy).

Larry D. Thompson

"In-sourcing Corporate Responsibility for Enforcement of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act" in 51 American Criminal Law Review 199 (2014).

Christian Turner

"Origins of the Public/Private Theory of Legal Systems" in Private Law: Key Encounters with Public Law (K. Barker and D. Jensen eds.) (Cambridge University Press, 2014).

Camilla E. Watson

"SFRs and Problems in Tax Administration and Enforcement" in 146 Tax Notes 363 (2015) (reprinted in 2015 Tax Notes Today 12-12, Jan. 20, 2015); and "Tax Lawyers, Ethical Obligations and the Duty to the System" in Ethical Duties to the Tax System: A Handbook (S. Schumacher and M. Hatfield eds.) (University of Washington, 2015) (reprinted from 47 Kansas Law Review 847 (1999)).

Carol A. Watson (J.D.'87)

"The Open Access Advantage for American Law Reviews" in 3A Edison: Law and Technology 1 (2015) (with J. Donovan and C. Osborne), available at www.jptos.org/uploads/edison/edison2015-03A.pdf.

Michael L. Wells

Constitutional Torts, 4th ed. (LexisNexis, forthcoming 2015) (with T. Eaton, S. Nahmod and F. Smith); "Constitutional Remedies: Reconciling Qualified Immunity with the Plaintiff's Right to Vindication" in the St. John's University Law Review (forthcoming 2015); and Federal Courts, 3d ed. (Thomson/West, 2015) (with W. Marshall and G. Nichol).

Sonja R. West

"Student Press Exceptionalism" in 2 Education Law and Policy Review (forthcoming 2015) (invited) (peer reviewed); "The Stealth Press Clause" in 48 Georgia Law Review 730 (2014); "Press Exceptionalism" in 127 Harvard Law Review 2434 (2014); and "First Amendment Neighbors" in 66 Alabama Law Review 357 (2014).