

A Law School Class for Undergraduates: JURI 3233E

Foundations of American Law

The law school is offering a new course designed only for undergraduates. It is designed to teach you directly about the basic components of our legal system, including legal argument, institutions, and interpretation, and to introduce you to landmark Supreme Court cases. We will close with cases now pending before the Supreme Court. By then, you will be prepared to grasp these cases as lawyers do, with a sense of the deeper connections between legal issues. Whether you're thinking about law school or just wishing to understand the role of law in ordering society, this course aims to equip you with the basic understandings every lawyer should have.

- ▶ Prof. Christian Turner, cmturner@uga.edu
- ▶ No prerequisites
- ▶ Online, combining discussion and a podcast
- ▶ Take it this summer or take it in the fall

Schedule of Online Discussion Meetings

Summer:	May 30 - June 22, TWR 3:30-5:10 June 27, 29, July 6, 3:30-6:00
Fall:	Aug. 15 - Oct. 31, T 7:00-8:40 Nov. 7, Nov. 9, Nov. 14, 7:00-9:30