WHY I SUPPORT GEORGIA LAW...

After graduating law school in 1980, I entered my family's business intending to stay for only a short while. Instead, 33 years later, I have made my home in LaGrange and have watched my family's company, Mountville Mills, grow and continue to prosper in this Georgia community.

I found the legal training that I gained at Georgia Law helped me immensely in managing what is now an international company.

Recently I read that Henry Ford said "the highest use of capital is not to make more money but to make money do more for the betterment of life." This reminded me how privileged I was to have earned my degree from Georgia Law, and how fortunate I am to be able to give back and help the next generation gain these same lifelong skills and knowledge.

Join me in making a gift and make your money do more for the betterment of others. Collectively, we can help our law school continue to prosper.
