I ENCOURAGE YOU TO SPEND A FEW MOMENTS WITH THIS PUBLICATION TO LEARN WHY THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA SCHOOL OF LAW IS ONE OF THE FINEST LAW SCHOOLS IN THE NATION.

The University of Georgia®

© 2011 The University of Georgia School of Law

The University of Georgia is a unit of the University System of Georgia. In compliance with federal law, including the provisions of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the University of Georgia does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, religion, color, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, or military service in its administration of educational policies, programs, or activities; its admissions policies; scholarship and loan programs; athletic or other University-administered programs; or employment. In addition, the University does not discriminate on the basis of sexual orientation consistent with the University non-discrimination policy. Inquiries or complaints should be directed to the director of the Equal Opportunity Office, Peabody Hall, 290 South Jackson Street, University of Georgia, Athens, GA 30602. Telephone (706) 542-7912 (V/TDD). Fax (706) 542-2822.

MODERN LAW SCHOOLS ENCOUNTER NEW DIFFICULTIES, AND NEW OPPORTUNITIES, ON A DAILY BASIS. HOW A SCHOOL RESPONDS TO THOSE CHALLENGES AND CHANCES MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE IN DETERMINING WHETHER IT QUALIFIES AS A GREAT INSTITUTION OR MERELY AS A GOOD ONE. THIS IS WHY I AM SO PLEASED TO REPORT THAT THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA SCHOOL OF LAW SUCCESSFULLY CAPITALIZED ON SEVERAL FRONTS THIS PAST YEAR.

REBECCA HANNER WHITE

This fall, we welcomed an outstanding group of professors to our already strong faculty. Joining us in endowed positions are former U.S. Deputy Attorney General and former PepsiCo senior executive Larry D. Thompson, who is serving as the Sibley Professor in Corporate and Business Law, and international law scholar Diane Marie Amann, from the University of California at Davis, who is serving as the Woodruff Chair in International Law. Lateral level hires include Joseph S. Miller from the Lewis & Clark Law School, who teaches and writes in the area of intellectual property law; health law and torts professor Elizabeth Weeks Leonard from the University of Kansas; and mass torts specialist Elizabeth Chamblee Burch from Florida State University. Additionally, former Harvard Law Climenko Fellow and Lecturer Jaime L. Dodge comes to Georgia Law as an assistant professor.

Moreover, nine Georgia Law faculty members now have new titles. Dan T. Coenen is our Associate Dean for Faculty Development and will work with our faculty, especially our junior professors, to expand and promote scholarly activities at UGA. Walter Hellerstein now has the title of Distinguished Research Professor, which is a university-wide designation recognizing original and influential scholarship. Peter A. Appel and Randy Beck have been appointed to newly established endowed positions – the Smith Professorship and the Marshall Chair of Constitutional Law, respectively. Lori A. Ringhand and Peter B. “Bo” Rutledge have been elevated to the rank of full professor. And, Fazal Khan and Sonja R. West have been named associate professors with tenure, while Harlan G. Cohen was promoted to associate professor.

Georgia Law also began renovating its buildings to provide a more modern and dynamic complex designed to enhance the academic atmosphere for both the learning and the study of law. These physical changes, coupled with our enriched corps of dedicated scholars and teachers, will give Georgia Law a tremendous position of strength from which to continue moving forward.

I encourage you to spend a few more moments with this publication to learn why the University of Georgia School of Law is one of the finest law schools in the nation.

Sincerely,

Dean and J. Alton Hosch Professor of Law

DIANE MARIE AMANN

EMILY AND ERNEST WOODRUFF CHAIR IN INTERNATIONAL LAW

B.S., University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

M.A., University of California at Los Angeles

J.D., Northwestern University

Dr.h.c., Universiteit Utrecht

“TO SAY THAT OUR WORLD IS SHRINKING IS A CLICHÉ, BUT TRUE
NONETHELESS. IT IS EXCITING TO STUDY, AND OCCASIONALLY TRY TO SHAPE, HOW THIS FACT OF GLOBALIZATION PLAYS OUT IN THE LAW.
ISSUES RELATED TO TERRORISM AND CRIMES, LAW ENFORCEMENT AND THE USE OF FORCE PARTICULARLY INTEREST ME.”

International law scholar Diane Marie Amann has joined the Georgia Law faculty as the holder of the Emily and Ernest Woodruff Chair in International Law.

Amann comes to the law school from the University of California at Davis, where she served as the founding director of the California International Law Center and was a Martin Luther King Jr. Hall Research Scholar for the 2010–11 academic year.

Her research examines the interaction of national, regional and international legal regimes in an effort to combat atrocity and cross-border crime. She has published more than four dozen chapters and articles in English, French and Italian and was honored with the Article of the Year in International Criminal Law Award during 2005 by the International Association of Penal Law for her article “Abu Ghraib.”

Prior to joining the teaching academy, Amann served as a judicial clerk for Judge Prentice H. Marshall of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois and for U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, whose biography she is writing. She also practiced law in various capacities in San Francisco, Calif., for seven years.

Amann earned her bachelor’s degree with highest honors from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign; her master’s degree from the University of California at Los Angeles; her law degree cum laude from Northwestern University, where she served as note and comment editor of the Northwestern University Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif; and her Dr.h.c. degree in law from the Universiteit Utrecht in the Netherlands.

LARRY D. THOMPSON

JOHN A. SIBLEY PROFESSOR IN CORPORATE AND BUSINESS LAW

B.A., Culver-Stockton College

M.A., Michigan State University

J.D., University of Michigan

Larry D. Thompson, former deputy attorney general for the United States and former senior vice president of government affairs, general counsel and secretary for PepsiCo, has joined Georgia Law as the John A. Sibley Professor in Corporate and Business Law. He will be teaching courses in the areas of corporate law and white collar crime.

His scholarship includes the articles "The State of the Judiciary: A Corporate Perspective" in the Georgetown Law Journal and "The Blameless Corporation" in the American Criminal Law Review as well as a forthcoming article in the Journal of Law, Economics & Policy.

No stranger to UGA, Thompson has been a visiting professor and guest speaker several times during the past decade and was confirmed as the second in command at the Justice Department while teaching a course at the law school during 2001.

As deputy attorney general, a post he held from 2001 to 2003, Thompson supervised the overall operations of the DOJ and led its National Security Coordination Council, its Corporate Fraud Task Force and its Enron investigation. Then, in 2004, he became responsible for the worldwide legal function of PepsiCo, one of the largest convenience food and beverage companies in the world, where he served through May 2011. He also oversaw its government affairs organization and The PepsiCo Foundation.

Previously, he worked as a partner in the Atlanta, Ga., office of King & Spalding and served as the U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of Georgia. Thompson earned his bachelor's degree from Culver-Stockton College, his master's from Michigan State University and his law degree from the University of Michigan.

"I TEACH BECAUSE I THINK IT IS IMPORTANT TO SERVE OUR PROFESSION. I HAVE BEEN VERY BLESSED IN THE PRACTICE OF LAW, AND I THINK IT IS TIME FOR ME TO GIVE SOMETHING BACK. SELFISHLY, I TEACH BECAUSE EVERY TIME I DO SO, I LEARN. AND, MAYBE I WILL BE IN A POSITION TO CHANGE A PERSON'S LIFE, AS A FEW TEACHERS HAVE CHANGED MINE."

JOSEPH S. MILLER

PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., St. John's College

M.S., J.D., Northwestern University

Joseph S. Miller, who specializes in intellectual property law, has joined the Georgia Law faculty as a professor teaching Patent Law, Intellectual Property Law Survey and Antitrust Law.

He comes to Athens from the Lewis & Clark Law School, where he taught from 2002 to 2011.

Miller's scholarly efforts focus on intellectual property law issues, both alone and within the larger legal structures that govern the competitive process within a market economy. He is especially interested in intellectual property law's creativity thresholds, such as patent law's nonobviousness requirement and copyright law's originality requirement. His recent work has appeared in the Stanford Technology Law Review, the Administrative Law Review, the Cardozo Law Review and the Indiana Law Review. He has also co-authored a casebook titled Intellectual Property Law: Cases & Materials.

Previously, Miller worked as an attorney in the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, where he helped with a variety of investigations that included intellectual property law components. Additionally, he served as a judicial clerk for Judge Paul R. Michel of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and practiced both patent and general appellate law at the Chicago, Ill., and Washington, D.C., offices of Sidley & Austin.

Miller earned his bachelor's degree from St. John's College, where he graduated first in his class, and his master's degree and law degree cum laude from Northwestern University, where he was the articles editor of the Northwestern University Law Review.

ELIZABETH CHAMBLEE BURCH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., Vanderbilt University

J.D., Florida State University

“I WANT TO ENCOURAGE MY STUDENTS TO THINK CRITICALLY AND TO SEE THAT THE PROBLEMS THAT PLAGUE US IN THE LAW SCHOOL CLASSROOM ARE CONCRETE, OFTEN CODIFIED, EXAMPLES OF THE QUESTIONS THAT PLAGUE THE WORLD AT LARGE.”

Elizabeth Chamblee Burch has joined the Georgia Law faculty as an associate professor teaching Complex Litigation, Mass Torts and Civil Procedure.

Previously, she served as an assistant professor of law at Florida State University, where she received the University Teaching Award and was voted “Professor of the Year” by second- and third-year students. She also taught at the Cumberland School of Law, where she received the Harvey S. Jackson Excellence in Teaching Award and the Lightfoot, Franklin & White Faculty Scholarship Award.

Burch’s research addresses issues in class actions and mass torts. Her scholarship has been published or is forthcoming in respected journals such as the Vanderbilt Law Review, the Boston University Law Review, the George Washington Law Review, the Alabama Law Review and the Wake Forest Law Review. She is also the co-author of the forthcoming second edition of The Law of Class Actions and Other Aggregate Litigation.

Before entering the legal teaching academy, Burch worked as an associate at Holland & Knight in Atlanta, Ga., practicing in the area of complex litigation, including securities-law class actions.

She earned her bachelor’s degree cum laude from Vanderbilt University and her Juris Doctor cum laude from Florida State University, where she served as the writing and research editor for the Florida State University Law Review.

ELIZABETH WEEKS LEONARD

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., Columbia University

J.D., University of Georgia

“THERE COULD NOT BE A MORE EXCITING TIME IN OUR NATION’S HISTORY TO STUDY HEALTH CARE LAW. WE ARE IN THE EARLY PHASES OF IMPLEMENTING THE MOST SIGNIFICANT, COMPREHENSIVE CHANGES TO THE U.S. HEALTH CARE SYSTEM IN A GENERATION, AND THE ONGOING DEBATE RAISES FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES OF INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS AND THE APPROPRIATE ROLE OF GOVERNMENT IN PERSONAL LIVES.”

Elizabeth Weeks Leonard has joined the Georgia Law faculty as an associate professor. She leads courses on torts and health law and also specializes in health care financing and regulation.

Prior to coming to UGA, Leonard served on the faculty at the University of Kansas School of Law. During her time there, she was honored with the Howard M. and Susan Immel Award for Teaching Excellence and with the Meredith Docking Faculty Scholar Award, a university-wide honor for faculty who distinguished themselves early in their careers.

Her scholarship includes articles published in the Hofstra Law Review, the University of Pennsylvania Journal of Constitutional Law, the Washington University Law Review and the North Carolina Law Review. She was also recognized as one of four emerging health law scholars nationwide by the American Society of Law, Medicine & Ethics with its 2005 Health Law Scholars Award.

Before becoming a professor, Leonard worked as an associate in the Health Industry Group at Vinson & Elkins in Houston, Tex. She also served as a judicial clerk for Judge Jacques L. Wiener Jr. of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit and for Chief Justice Thomas R. Phillips of the Supreme Court of Texas.

Leonard earned her bachelor’s degree from Columbia University and her law degree summa cum laude from the University of Georgia, where she was editor-in-chief of the Georgia Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif.

JAIME L. DODGE

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., Dartmouth College
M.D.R., Pepperdine University
J.D., Harvard University

Jaime L. Dodge has joined Georgia Law as an assistant professor specializing in dispute resolution, bankruptcy and complex litigation.

She comes to UGA from Harvard Law School, where she served as a Climenko Fellow and Lecturer in Law and taught in the areas of cross-border class actions and large-scale dispute resolution.

Dodge's scholarship focuses on how the structure of procedural regimes, from aggregate litigation to alternative dispute resolution models, affects the exercise of rights and the enforcement of substantive law. Her research also explores new sources of litigation, with an emphasis on the growing use of non-Article III tribunals by both private and public actors. Her work in these areas has been published in the Virginia Law Review and the Harvard Law Review.

Previously, Dodge served as a judicial clerk for Judge John T. Noonan Jr. of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit. She also practiced law for a number of years in San Francisco, Calif., with Paul Hastings and later with Gibson Dunn, where she focused on class action appeals and participated in successful challenges to two of the largest employment classes ever certified.

She earned her bachelor's degree from Dartmouth College, her Masters in Dispute Resolution from the Pepperdine University School of Law and her law degree from Harvard University, where she served as the Supreme Court chair of the Harvard Law Review.

"FOR ME, TEACHING THE LAW IS NOT ONLY ABOUT TEACHING DOCTRINE, BUT PREPARING STUDENTS WITH THE STRATEGIES AND SKILLS THAT WILL ALLOW THEM TO SUCCEED AS ADVOCATES. IF WE CAN ACCOMPLISH THAT, WE NOT ONLY CHANGE THE LIVES OF OUR STUDENTS AND THEIR CLIENTS, BUT IMPROVE OUR COMMUNITIES MORE BROADLY THROUGH THEIR WORK."

DAN T. COENEN

ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR FACULTY DEVELOPMENT, UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR
& HARMON W. CALDWELL CHAIR IN CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

B.S., University of Wisconsin
J.D., Cornell University

Assuming the post of Associate Dean for Faculty Development is Dan T. Coenen, who is also the holder of the Caldwell Chair in Constitutional Law. In his new role, he will work closely with Georgia Law's faculty, especially the junior faculty, to expand and promote scholarly activities.

Coenen began teaching at Georgia Law in 1987 and has received numerous honors for his work both in and outside of the classroom. In 2005, he was named a University Professor, a title awarded to no more than one UGA faculty member per year, for his service as a "change agent" for UGA. He is also a recipient of the Josiah Meigs Award, the university's highest honor for excellence in teaching.

Specializing in the areas of contracts and constitutional law, Coenen's scholarship includes The Story of The Federalist: How Hamilton and Madison Reconceived America in addition to numerous articles appearing in such journals as The Yale Law Journal, the Duke Law Journal and the Michigan Law Review.

Before joining the law school faculty, Coenen served as a judicial clerk for U.S. Supreme Court Justice Harry A. Blackmun and for Chief Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit. He also practiced law at the firm Robinson, Bradshaw & Hinson in Charlotte, N.C., where he later became a partner.

Coenen earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin and his law degree from Cornell University, where he served as editor-in-chief of the Cornell Law Review.

"I WAS DRAWN TO TEACHING LARGELY BY WATCHING MY OWN LAW TEACHERS IN ACTION. I SENSED THAT I COULD MAKE A CONTRIBUTION TO THE GROWTH OF STUDENTS AND THAT I COULD FIND MEANING IN BOTH THE PERSONAL INTERACTIONS AND THE SCHOLARLY WORK THAT ARE AT THE CORE OF BEING A LAW PROFESSOR."

WALTER HELLERSTEIN

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCH PROFESSOR &
FRANCIS SHACKELFORD DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR IN TAXATION LAW

A.B., Harvard University
J.D., University of Chicago

“FOR MANY YEARS — AND MY MEDICARE CARD IS PROOF THAT THERE HAVE BEEN ENOUGH OF THEM — MY SCHOLARLY WORK FOCUSED LARGELY ON CROSS-BORDER TAX ISSUES WITHIN THE U.S. FEDERAL SYSTEM. MORE RECENTLY, HOWEVER, MY EXPERTISE IN THIS AREA HAS BECOME QUITE RELEVANT TO CROSS-BORDER TAX ISSUES IN THE INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT, AND I HAVE REALLY ENJOYED THE CHALLENGE OF APPLYING THE LESSONS OF THE U.S. SUBNATIONAL EXPERIENCE TO THE BROADER INTERNATIONAL FRAMEWORK.”

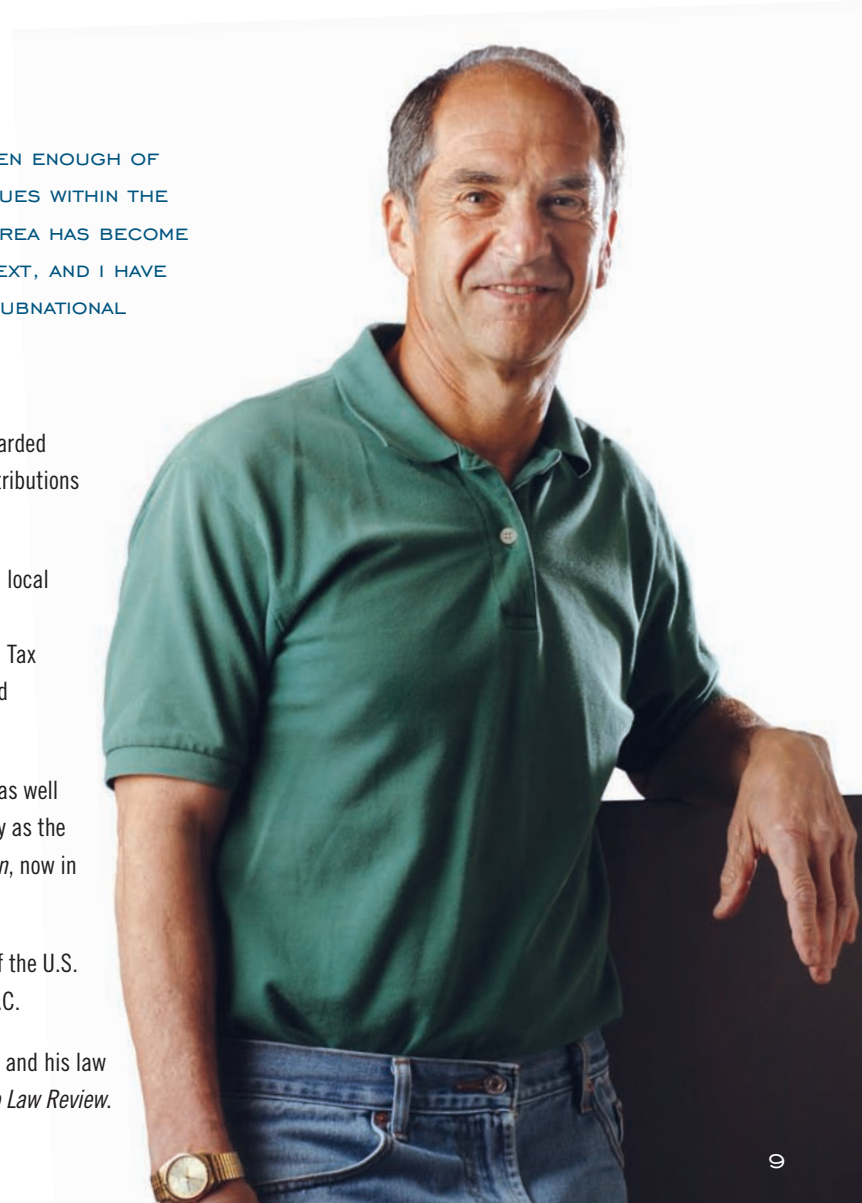

Walter Hellerstein was recently named a UGA Distinguished Research Professor. This title is awarded annually to select university professors who are internationally recognized for their original contributions to knowledge and whose work promises to foster continued creativity in their discipline.

Hellerstein, who has devoted most of his professional life to the study and practice of state and local taxation law, is widely regarded as the nation’s leading academic authority in this area. He has received several honors for his contributions to and influence in the field, including the National Tax Association’s prestigious Daniel M. Holland Medal for outstanding contributions to the study and practice of public finance.

His scholarship comprises more than 130 articles in highly respected law reviews and journals as well as six books/monographs, including State Taxation, a two-volume work that is regarded by many as the field’s “bible,” as well as the leading casebook on state and local taxes, State and Local Taxation, now in its ninth edition.

Prior to joining the Georgia Law faculty in 1978, Hellerstein clerked for Judge Henry J. Friendly of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 2nd Circuit and practiced law at Covington & Burling in Washington, D.C.

He earned his bachelor’s degree magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from Harvard University and his law degree from the University of Chicago, where he was editor-in-chief of The University of Chicago Law Review.

PETER A. APPEL

ALEX W. SMITH PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., J.D., Yale University

"I HOPE MY STUDENTS WILL DEVELOP A LOVE FOR THE LAW THAT CAN SUSTAIN THEM IN THEIR FUTURE CAREERS FOR 30, 40 OR 50 YEARS. IN THAT PROCESS, I SEEK TO IMPART NOT ONLY THE COMPLEXITIES OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM BUT THE ETHICAL DEMANDS THAT OUR PROFESSION WILL PLACE ON THEM."

Peter A. Appel has been appointed the inaugural holder of the Alex. W. Smith Professorship of Law, which was established in memory of 1949 Georgia Law alumnus Alexander Wyly Smith III, a highly regarded attorney, civic leader and philanthropist.

A member of the Georgia Law faculty since 1997, Appel teaches in the areas of property law, natural resources law and environmental law.

His research focuses on the use of law to promote sustainable commerce, the law of wilderness preservation and more traditional doctrinal scholarship in environmental and natural resources law. Appel's work has appeared in publications such as the Harvard Environmental Law Review, the Stanford Environmental Law Journal and the Boston College Environmental Affairs Law Review. He has presented papers on the intersection of sustainable commerce and corporate governance at the University of Auckland and the University of Oslo.

After serving as a judicial clerk for Chief Judge Gilbert S. Merritt of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit, Appel developed a practical understanding of environmental issues through six years of service as an attorney with the Environment and Natural Resources Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

He earned his bachelor's degree cum laude and his Juris Doctor from Yale University, where he served on the notes editing committee of The Yale Law Journal and was a member of the Yale Law & Policy Review.

RANDY BECK

JUSTICE THOMAS O. MARSHALL CHAIR OF CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

B.A., Baker University

J.D., Southern Methodist University

Randy Beck has been selected as the first member of the Georgia Law faculty to hold the Justice Thomas O. Marshall Chair of Constitutional Law. This endowed position was established by Angie Fitts Marshall in honor of her late husband, a 1948 Georgia Law alumnus who had a long and distinguished legal career that included service as chief justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia.

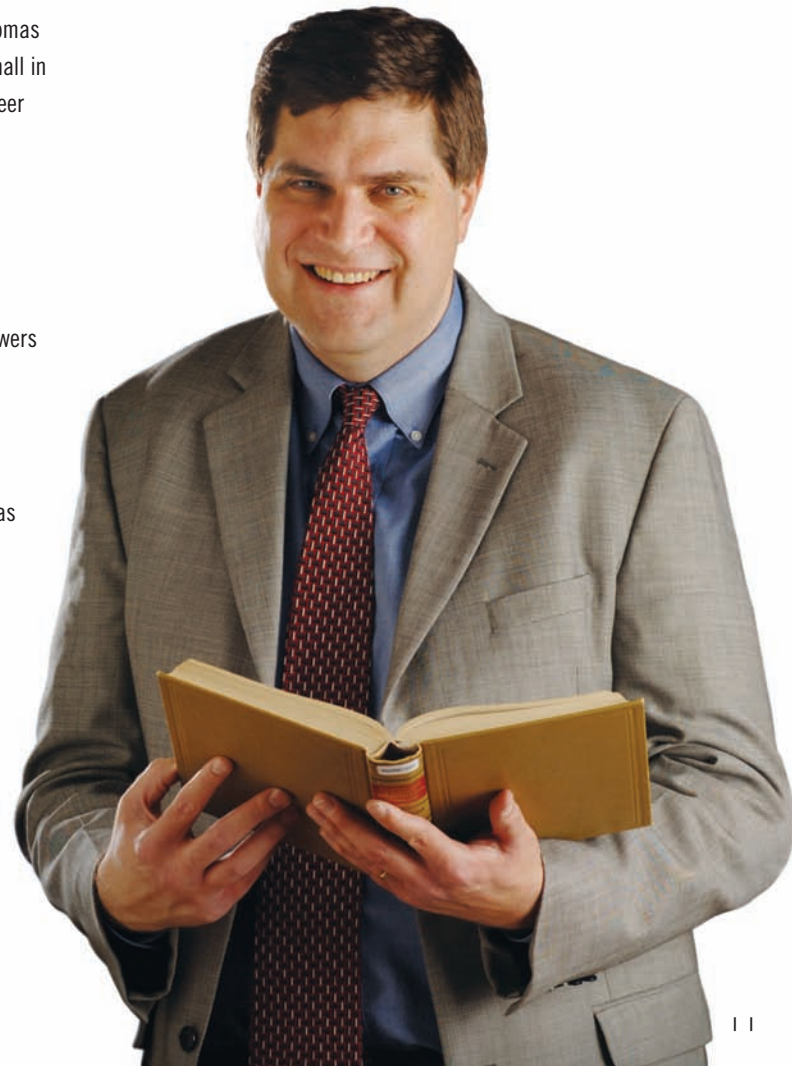

The recipient of numerous teaching awards, Beck leads courses in property, trusts and estates, constitutional law and Christian perspectives on legal thought.

His recent scholarship includes “Self-Conscious Dicta: The Origins of Roe v. Wade’s Trimester Framework” in the American Journal of Legal History (forthcoming), “Transtemporal Separation of Powers in the Law of Precedent” in the Notre Dame Law Review (forthcoming) and “Gonzales, Casey and the Viability Rule” in the Northwestern University Law Review.

A former judicial clerk for U.S. Supreme Court Justice Anthony M. Kennedy and for Judge Patrick E. Higginbotham of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit, Beck worked for more than five years as a general litigation associate with the law firm Perkins Coie in Seattle, Wash. He has also served as an attorney-advisor in the U.S. Department of Justice Office of Legal Counsel.

He earned his undergraduate degree from Baker University and graduated first in his class from Southern Methodist University School of Law.

“IN MY SCHOLARSHIP, I HOPE TO WRITE WELL-RESEARCHED ARTICLES THAT HAVE A POSITIVE IMPACT ON AREAS OF LAW THAT MATTER. IN TEACHING, I WANT TO HELP STUDENTS DEVELOP SKILLS IN LEGAL ANALYSIS AND CHALLENGE THEM TO RECOGNIZE THE GOOD ONE CAN DO IN THE PRACTICE OF LAW.”

LORI A. RINGHAND

PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire

J.D., University of Wisconsin

B.C.L., University of Oxford

Lori A. Ringhand was recently promoted to the rank of full professor. Teaching courses in constitutional law, election law and state and local government, she has been a member of the Georgia Law faculty since 2008.

Her research focuses on empirical work regarding the voting patterns and practices of U.S. Supreme Court justices, and her scholarship has been published in journals such as the Michigan State Law Review, the American University Law Review, the William & Mary Bill of Rights Journal and the University of Pennsylvania Journal of Constitutional Law.

Ringhand has created a Supreme Court confirmation hearing dataset to provide insight into these proceedings with the goal of better understanding the ways in which the confirmation process shapes, or fails to shape, the development of constitutional law. And, she was recently awarded a Congressional Research Grant from The Dirksen Congressional Center to expand her work in this area.

Before coming to UGA, Ringhand served on the faculty of the University of Kentucky College of Law and as a visiting scholar at the Oxford Institute of European and Comparative Law.

She earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire and her law degree magna cum laude from the University of Wisconsin, where she graduated second in her class and served on the Wisconsin Law Review. She also obtained a Bachelor of Civil Law with distinction from the University of Oxford.

“MY WORK FOCUSES ON CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, PARTICULARLY ON THE INTERSECTION OF LAW AND POLITICS. ACKNOWLEDGING THE INTERPLAY AND OVERLAP BETWEEN LAW AND POLITICS, WHILE NONETHELESS WORKING TO DEFINE A UNIQUE ROLE FOR EACH IS, I THINK, ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT TASKS FACING CONSTITUTIONAL LAW SCHOLARS TODAY.”

PETER B. “BO” RUTLEDGE

PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., Harvard University
M.Litt., University of Aberdeen
J.D., University of Chicago

“I INITIALLY DECIDED TO STUDY LAW BECAUSE I SAW IT AS AN OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE. I CHOSE MY AREA OF SPECIALTY BECAUSE I AM INTRIGUED BY THE IMPORTANCE OF GLOBALIZATION ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE LAW AND THE NEED TO PRODUCE A GENERATION OF LAWYERS EQUIPPED TO HANDLE THOSE PROBLEMS.”

Recently elevated to the rank of full professor, Peter B. “Bo” Rutledge’s teaching and research interests include dispute resolution, arbitration, business transactions and litigation, all at the international level.

An accomplished teacher and scholar, Rutledge was selected to serve as a 2010–11 Fulbright Professor at the Institut für Zivilverfahrensrecht at the University of Vienna School of Law. He has also taught and spoken at numerous other leading institutions of higher education, including the University of Oxford and Cambridge University.

Rutledge is the author of the forthcoming book Arbitration and the Constitution (Cambridge University Press) and co-author of International Civil Litigation in the United States. Additionally, he has published articles that appear in a diverse array of journals such as the Vanderbilt Journal of Transnational Law and the Journal of International Arbitration.

Before entering the legal teaching academy, Rutledge served as a judicial clerk for U.S. Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas and for Chief Judge J. Harvie Wilkinson III of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit. He also practiced at Wilmer Cutler & Pickering in Washington, D.C., and at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer in Austria.

He earned his bachelor’s degree magna cum laude from Harvard University, his master’s degree from the University of Aberdeen (Scotland) and his law degree with high honors from the University of Chicago, where he served as executive editor of The University of Chicago Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif.

HARLAN G. COHEN

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., M.A., Yale University

J.D., New York University

Harlan G. Cohen, who joined the Georgia Law faculty in 2007, has been promoted to the rank of associate professor. He teaches in the areas of public international law, international human rights, international criminal law, international trade, and foreign affairs and the Constitution.

His scholarship has appeared in journals such as the Iowa Law Review, the Tulane Law Review, the Berkeley Journal of International Law and the Yale Journal of International Law. He also has an article forthcoming in the New York University Journal of International Law and Politics.

Cohen came to Georgia Law from the New York University School of Law, where he was a Furman Fellow. He has practiced at the New York law firm Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton and has served as a judicial clerk for Judge Wilfred Feinberg of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 2nd Circuit. Cohen also interned in the U.S. Attorney's Office and for U.S. District Court Judge Shira A. Scheindlin, both in the Southern District of New York. Before entering law school, Cohen worked at the Washington Institute for Near East Policy and at the journal Foreign Affairs.

Cohen earned his bachelor's and master's degree from Yale University and graduated magna cum laude from the New York University School of Law, where he was a Florence Allen Scholar and was inducted into the Order of the Coif. He also served as articles editor of the New York University Law Review.

"I HAVE BEEN CONSISTENTLY IMPRESSED BY THE EXTENT TO WHICH THE FACULTY AT GEORGIA LAW SEEM DEDICATED TO CREATING AN INTELLECTUAL COMMUNITY RATHER THAN JUST A COLLECTION OF SCHOLARS AND TEACHERS. THE SCHOOL ALSO HAS A LONG AND CONTINUING TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE IN INTERNATIONAL LAW, AND AS AN INTERNATIONAL LAW SCHOLAR, I AM TRULY HONORED TO BE ABLE TO BE A PART OF IT."

FAZAL KHAN

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., University of Chicago

J.D., M.D., University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Fazal Khan has been promoted to the rank of associate professor with tenure. A Georgia Law faculty member since 2006, he teaches Health Law and Policy, Bioethics, Public Health Law and International Products Liability.

Khan's research focuses on several major themes: the reform of the American health care system, the effect of globalization on health care and the challenge of regulating emerging biotechnologies. His scholarship includes articles on topics such as the ethical regulations of human drug trials in developing countries, rethinking public health laws post-9/11, the potential dissonance between personal health records and electronic medical records, and ethical safeguards that would allow organ donation from anencephalic infants. His most recent work has appeared in the Health Matrix: Journal of Law-Medicine, the Harvard Law & Policy Review, the Annals of Health Law and the Indiana Health Law Review.

Additionally, Khan is part of a team that was recently awarded a three-year National Institutes of Health grant to create an interdisciplinary center on the ethical, legal and social implications of epigenetics research. Once the center is established, Khan will serve as one of its primary legal consultants.

Previously, Khan worked as a litigation associate with Jenner & Block in Chicago, Ill. He earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Chicago and his medical and law degrees from the Medical Scholars Program at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

"THE MULTIDIMENSIONAL COMPLEXITY OF THE PROBLEMS ARISING IN HEALTH LAW IS WHAT INTRIGUES ME THE MOST. GRASPING THE COMPLEXITY OF CERTAIN PROBLEMS REQUIRES NOT ONLY A GROUNDING IN MULTIPLE DISCIPLINES SUCH AS LAW, MEDICINE, ECONOMICS AND PHILOSOPHY, BUT ALSO THE ABILITY TO SYNTHESIZE ACROSS THESE DISCIPLINES. ON TOP OF THAT, THE FIELD OF HEALTH LAW CHANGES VERY RAPIDLY, SO YOU REALLY HAVE TO BE ON YOUR TOES WITH CURRENT DEVELOPMENTS."

SONJA R. WEST

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF LAW

B.A., University of Iowa

J.D., University of Chicago

Recently elevated to the rank of associate professor with tenure, Sonja R. West specializes in constitutional law, media law and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Her research interests focus on the balance between First Amendment rights and privacy rights and the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Press Clause. Her published work includes "Awakening the Press Clause" in the UCLA Law Review and "The Story of Me: The Underprotection of Autobiographical Speech" in the Washington University Law Review.

Prior to joining the Georgia Law faculty in 2006, West served as a judicial clerk for U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens and for Judge Dorothy W. Nelson of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit. She also taught at the University of Alabama School of Law as a Hugo Black Faculty Fellow.

Her other professional experience includes several years as an associate attorney for the Los Angeles, Calif., law firms Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher and Davis Wright Tremaine, where she represented media clients on a variety of First Amendment and intellectual property issues at both the trial and the appellate levels.

West earned her undergraduate degree with honors and distinction from the University of Iowa and graduated with high honors from the University of Chicago Law School, where she served as executive editor of The University of Chicago Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif.

"I AM DRAWN TO CONSTITUTIONAL LAW BECAUSE OF THE FASCINATING STORY IT TELLS US ABOUT US. AT ITS CORE, OUR CONSTITUTION IS A DOCUMENT THAT WAS WRITTEN BY HUMANS TO GOVERN HUMANS AND MUST BE INTERPRETED BY HUMANS. TO ME THIS UNDERLYING HUMANITY IS BOTH ITS BIGGEST WEAKNESS AND ITS MOST ENDURING STRENGTH."

Modern law schools encounter new difficulties, and new opportunities, on a daily basis.
How a school responds to those challenges and chances makes all the difference in determining whether it qualifies as a great institution or merely as a good one.
