1	I think Levin is a great teacher, but, as always, in order to really get something out of the class, you need to do the reading to follow along in class.	Feb 27, 2012 11:31 AM
2	Levin is very good at teaching "rule-based" classes such as Admin Law and Civil Pro. However, it seemed like this was his first or second time actually going through the materials in depth, so he sometimes came to class and completely changed his answers to a lot of the info he had provided to us the class before. 3	Most all of my complaints are directed at the organization of the textbook and thus the class. Book used problem method which I liked. But the book was kind of all over the place in organization, it was hard to pull it all together when outlining.	Feb 20, 2012 12:47 PM
4	Don't take this class. Problem method. Terribly boring.	Feb 20, 2012 12:41 PM
5	I really like Levin. He is great lecturer, even when people are not stepping up to participate. His questions seemed really fair and his exam was exactly what he said it would be. The subject was also interesting and seems as though it will be useful to know. The only cons for me were that the readings were routinely long and sometimes it seemed like we spent too long on certain areas.	Feb 12, 2012 10:37 PM
6	Levin is a great professor. You have to come to class, and you have to thoroughly do the readings (his questions are pretty challenging, and he stays on one student for most of the class time). His exam was tough but fair. Overall, this subject is one of the most important I've taken in law school - I don't recommend graduating without it!	Feb 6, 2012 3:24 PM
7	Prof. Levin demands a lot of you in that black letter law is not always clear based on class and reading, sort of have to figure that out on your own. But exam was very fair, and overall I'd recommend the class, particularly if you like and/or are used to Prof. Levin.	Feb 6, 2012 9:50 AM
8	Professor Levin would assign long and complicated readings and then call on one student at a time to work through cases and problems - and he seemed to expect us to have done extra research or be experts in the subject when we had trouble understanding the reading. I had a hard time following even when he was explaining the concepts and I don't feel like I got very much out of the class.	Feb 6, 2012 8:18 AM
9	The exam was a mixture of multiple choice and essay questions. It was fairly time pressured.	Feb 5, 2012 11:44 PM
10	People didn't seem to take it seriously, which is fine with me, I got a good grade.	Feb 5, 2012 11:31 PM
